Life is a River
(c) 1997 Tupelo Kenyon

San Juan River Camp
7/30/95

G CaddG G
Life is a river, sometimes crashing over falls
CaddG G Em C Em7 Am D6
Seeking it's own level tearing down walls
G CaddG G G/Gb
Opening new passages, while taking it easy
Em C D G C D G (G/Gb)
Life is a river, flowing to the sea

Em C G G/Gb
Sometimes it gets so hot, water turns to steam
Em Em7 C Em7 Am A9
Evaporating in the air, somewhere it can't be seen
Em Em7 C G (G/Gb)
With such a strong attraction, it falls back to the ground
Em C D
A cycle's done, and one's begun, here goes another round

Chorus

Sometimes it gets so cold, water runs so slow
As ice, it's hard to recognize, the stuff won't even flow
With such a restless nature, diverse and hard to define
It creaks and groans, and then breaks free, it's just a matter of time ... (16 beats)

(Chorus break - with the first line sung)

C D Em C G D
And like a stream of consciousness, the river flows on through
Em C D
Go with the flow or get out of the way, it flows on with or without you
C D Em C G G/Gb
And like a great wheel turning, the spirit of the river will be
Em C D
Forever free, perpetually, from sea to shining sea

Chorus

Em C D G C D G
Life is a river, flowing to the sea
