

Key: A

Take the Plunge
(c) 1997 Tupelo Kenyon

Ajjic, Mexico
11/04/97

A9 D9
I'm taking a chance, a confident stance for jumping
A9 D9
Here I go, who knows where I'll land
Dm A
Voices all around me say to play it safe, son
Fmaj7+9 E7
But their lives aren't much of a recommendation

I'm out on a limb, filled to the brim with expectation
Here I go, who knows what's to come
Everyone keeps warning me of their worse case scenario
Think they're doing me a favor, but it's just making me weary

D E7 A A7
So I'm . . . taking off those blinders . . . and throwing them away
D E7 A A7
There's so much more to living than the safe and narrow way
D E7 A C#m Gbm
The meek will surely inherit the earth . . . They won't get very far
D E7 D E7 A A4 A
While the bold go for adventure, exploring beyond the stars
D E7 A C#m Gbm
So I'll encourage inspiration, and I'll soak it up like a sponge
D E7 D E7 A Asus4 A
Instead of terminal safety, I'm ready to take the plunge

I'm taking the plunge, ready to lunge off the deep end
Here I go, caution to the wind
Cruisin' on enthusiasn, taking what life gives
Instead of dying before ever I live

Break (verse structure) - Then, sing first 2 lines of first verse

Dm A
But I'm tired of allthat bad news . . . from the profits of doom
Dm A A7
I've noticed that their lives are not exactly in full bloom

Chorus (So I'm taking off their blinders . . .)

D E7 D E7 A Asus4 A
Instead of dying of caution, I'm living to take the plunge

(End with melodic hook - first line of verse structure)